Call for Papers/Articles

The journal invites short and long length (minimum 4 pages in double columns) high-quality, original papers that explicitly address technical challenges encountered in the Application of Information and Communication Technologies to Education and Business. Each submission will be reviewed by experts in the field and the first round review generally takes two months and the whole process takes about four – five months.

The Editors welcome submissions at: <http://ijoaict.inbie.pl/submit/paper.php>

Open Access Policy

Our open access policy is aimed to facilitate exchange of knowledge. Authors are required to agree with this open access policy which enables unrestricted access and reuse of all published articles.

Publication Frequency

There will be two issues of IJOAICT per year, in a continuous publication cycle. Articles will be published immediately in the current issue of IJOAICT on completion of the review / editing process.

Peer Review Process

Papers submitted for possible publication are subjected to a double-blind, peer review process.

The process:

1. Papers are reviewed by editors.
2. The editor may reject it if does not fit the objectives and quality of the Journal.
3. Articles that are found suitable for review are then sent to two experts in the field of the paper. Referees of a paper are unknown to each other.
4. Referees are asked to classify the paper as: publishable, publishable improvements, or not publishable.
5. Referees comments are sent to author's by the editor

6. The review process is usually completed within four weeks.
7. Accepted articles are usually published within four months.

Fees

No fees are required from authors. Authors pay neither a submission fee nor a publication fee.

Copyright Policy

The International Journal of Applied Information and Communication Technology uses Creative Commons copyright licence policy CC-BY.

Plagiarism

By submitting the manuscript the authors declare that the text is their original work, does not contain any plagiarism and has not been published in or submitted to any other journal.

Publication Frequency

If errors are found that are so significant that the paper cannot remain in the journal, the article will be removed and replaced with a note stating the reason of retraction.

Digital Preservation

The journal is digitally preserved by the National Library of the Polish Republic

Publication Ethics Statement

The editors of International Journal of Applied Information and Communication Technology are seriously concerned about the increase of plagiarism and other forms of fraud and misconduct in academic publishing.

Fraud and misconduct

We consider fraud and misconduct an essential part of our ethical responsibilities as editors to be aware of and to meet these challenges and to develop strategies for coping with them. We expect the same awareness of our journal's peer reviewers.

International Journal of Applied Information and Communication Technology is committed to ethical standards in its own editorial policy. The editors of International Journal of Applied Information and Communication Technology do their best to ensure fair, unbiased, and transparent peer review processes.

Important

Any detected cases of misconduct, whether on the part of authors, reviewers or editors, will be vigorously pursued.

Instructions for authors

Please note that the same article cannot be published both in a conference proceedings and in our journal. Authors are asked to submit their papers in MS Word format and using our Online paper Submission System.

Submission

The editors reserve the right to edit articles to conform to the style of the journal. Please use the template available on the homepage of the journal for your paper:

Be aware

It is the author's responsibility to ensure that where copyright materials are included within an article the permission of the copyright holder has been obtained.

Registration / submission

The author(s) authorize the INBIE to publish the submitted text and agree with the publisher's open access policy.

The author(s) declare that the submitted manuscript is original work, has not been published in any other journal and is not currently submitted to any other journal. The authors agree with editorial modifications of the manuscript.

Author Guidelines

The suggested length of the paper is minimum 4 pages. The preprint has to be in Microsoft Word format, the page format has to be A4, the text must be double column, line spacing – Single, alignment - Justified, left margin – 25mm, right margin – 25 mm, top margin – 25 mm, bottom margin – 25 mm.

All authors are kindly requested to use the Paper Format Sample (PFS) and prepare their contributions accordingly. It should be noted that papers must be written in exact PFS format before they are sent to The online submission tool for the International Journal of Applied Information and Communication Technology or by e-mail to contact@jjoaict.inbie.pl, as this contributes to the best appearance of the proceedings. If the final version of a paper is considerably different to the desired format, it will not be published even if it is accepted and registered.

Please send the authorship statement form and fill the relevant required text. A completed form must be signed by all authors. Please note that due to cross border difficulties we cannot accept electronic signatures; all authors must sign by hand. Please upload the signed copy with your submission or scan and email to: contact@jjoaict.inbie.pl,

Please remember to send:

1. The Paper on PFS format:
2. Authorship Statement on the Submitted Paper
